

Abstract of the Disclosure

A purification process for manufacturing a high pure acarbose relates to a process for preparing high pure acarbose from acarbose-containing fermentation broth. The acarbose was purified through steps of alcohol precipitation, a strongly acidic cation exchanger chromatography and an immobilized enzyme affinity chromatography. Acarbose is generally applied in treating diabetes.

5